OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

"CONSTANT READER" is an alias that our old friend and boss, Ralph H. Turner, basking in the pleasures of retirement of Corona Del Mar, now uses in making comments about items that appear in this column.

Some of you may recall that in a recent issue we touched on the rather sore subject (depending on your status) of drivers licenses. It was mentioned that many people overlook the date when their license expires (their birth date).

Although one can get his license six months prior to the expiration date, a surprising number of people let their licenses lapse, even with the birthday tie-in.

To some extent this is excusable, for, of course, there are countless people who after a certain number of years, maintain that they don't have birthdays.

But our comment about the license bit struck home to "Constant Reader" Turner. He had just gone through the mill, having missed his birthday and his license expired.

We thought you might be interested in "Constant's" description of the episode.

"GV:

"Some of you may have overlooked that fact." (A quote from our aforementioned column).

"Yeah, including the undersigned. In fact, I overlooked it twice.

"First time, I just squeaked by on both written and driver's test. This time, with license expiring in May, I didn't wake up to the fact till June.

"However, I passed, missed only five questions, two of them from sheer stupidity. I was nervous. However, I wasn't asked to take driver's test and was gratefully surprised that I got by on eyesight.

"I attribute some of my success to my diplomacy with a pleasant, fiftyish lady who presided over my fate. Will you please stand back while I take your picture, she asked. And try to smile, she added.

"Looking at you, it will be easy to smile," I responded.

"Besides, I think she was in a hurry to go to lunch.

all for now,
"Constant Reader"

AS A POSTSCRIPT, we add that we are well aware that it must be a difficult decision for these motor vehicle people to make whether or not they should give the applicant a driver's test.

They really have to do some real soul-searching.

After all, how many of you would be willing and eager to risk your life and limb under such circumstances?

The easy way out seems to be to put 'em on the freeway and spread the risk among thousands.

City to bond, build and lease

County approves library agreement

This week Campbell moved one step nearer getting much-needed adequate library facilities for the community.

On Tuesday the county supervisors approved a lease agreement with the City of Campbell specifying that the county library district will lease a new $400,000, 12,000 square foot library building to be built by the city.

The building will be financed by a special bond issue which will be placed on the ballot on Oct. 24, in addition to the other capital improvements projects which total $3.2 million.

But unlike the other projects, the library bond issue will be amortized over a 25-year period by lease payments from the county library district of $2000 per month.

After 25 years when the bonds are amortized the district will have the facilities rent-free.

DEADLINE

The action by the supervisors on Tuesday met the necessary deadline so as to allow the special $400,000 library bond issue to be placed on the ballot for the Oct. 24 election.

The approval of the agreement by the supervisors on Tuesday followed that of the County Library Commission on Monday night.

Councilman Charlie Rose and Dick Hogan, ector, represented the city in the presentation before the commission and the supervisors.

The lease agreement, patterned after a similar one in effect in Los Altos, had received the prior endorsement of the Campbell City Council.

No specific location is listed in the lease agreement other than the library facility will be a part of the civic center complex of the city.

LOCATION

The site will probably be in the area between Campbell Ave. and Grant and between First St. and Central, where the present city hall and fire station are now located. The city also has acquired a number of other parcels in that area.

At the present time specific planning of the civic center complex is being done by Charles Cavanaugh, planning

City Council meets next Monday

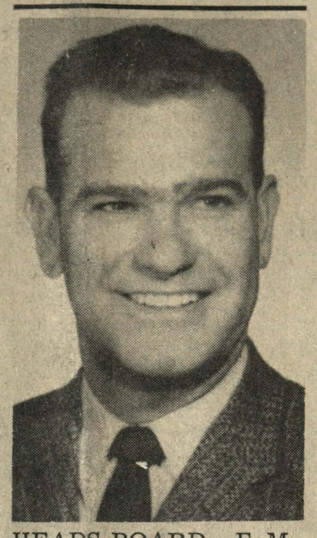
At the City Council meeting next Monday night, July 24, the council is expected to approve the propositions that will appear on the ballot Oct. 24 in the capital improvement bond election.

With approval of the library lease agreement with the county, the $400,000 needed for that facility will become one of the six propositions.

The $3.2 million bond issue (plus the $400,000) will broken down into (a) fire stations; (b) city administration-police building; (c) parks; (d) service center; (e) streets with library as (f).

Vice-Mayor Bill Smeed will preside Monday in the absence of Mayor Ed Rogers on vacation.

In another agenda matter Monday, the council is scheduled to approved the planned development zoning for the Bykowski property on Hamilton at Llewyln.



HEADS BOARD--E. M. (Doc) Arends, long-time member of the Campbell Union High School board of trustees, was reelected president of the board at the annual organizational meeting last week.

Vern Rutlen was also named vice-president and William L. Murphy clerk. Larry Hill, superintendent of the district, is secretary of the board.

Jim Duffield gets badge

ON HIS WAY--Jim Duffield, manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce for the past two years left Friday to take the position of manager of the Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Duffield, who has taken the new job in the high desert area chiefly because of health reasons, during the past several weeks was the recipient of many awards and commendations because of his record of achievements in Campbell.

Last Friday, on behalf of the Campbell Fire Department, Duffield was awarded a certificate of merit for his cooperation and he also was given a special gold badge as a honorary fireman.

A new manager for the local Chamber of Commerce has not yet been selected, according to Harry Lind, committee chairmen. However, a number of applicants for the job have been interviewed and a manager is expected to be named soon Lind said.

Planning Commission approves new billiard parlor

A new billiard parlor with four tables to be located on Hacienda Ave. just off Winchester Blvd. was approved by the Planning Commission Monday night.

Approval was given the application of Quattuor Investments of San Jose for a use permit to allow four tables in the proposed establishment. Plans for the proposed building were not submitted.

It marked the second time the applicant represented by David I Lopez, had been before the commission. In the first appearance, the commission denied the use permit without prejudice because the application specified that the tables would be in connection with a restaurant and bar.

Under the new city ordinance, bars or taverns are limited to one billiard table Billiard parlors are defined as any establishment having three or

Billiard recreational centers gain in popular appeal in Campbell area

That old-fashioned pool room on the corner where some of us in our younger days may have gained a certain "insight" on human nature as well as how to use a cue stick with a certain degree of proficiency, is far cry from the modern billiard centers in Campbell today.

There is one major difference.

In our ill-spent youth we were reticent about telling our parents that we had been "hanging" out at the local poolroom. As a matter of fact that information was sort of "classified". We kept it to ourselves.

But it is different today. All three of the modern billiard centers in Campbell now cater to the entire family. And it is not unusual to see Mom, Dad and the kids participating in a game of pool in the well-lighted, attractive recreational centers.

The three modern billiard parlors in town that have been established in the last few years have a total of 36 tables and billiards is the only attraction.

Under a recently enacted city ordinance, billiard centers must be just that. Bars and taverns, for example, are limited to having one pool table each. And with just one table, billiards naturally can't be the main attraction

Two local bistros, Tony's Busy Bee on Campbell Ave. and the Classy Chassey on Bascom, for example, each have a pool table. each have a pool table.

And the long established Orchard City Billiards on Railway has three tables in conjunction with its restaurant. But Orchard City was operating long before the city ordinance was adopted.

But the three modern billiard centers, The Pocket, on S. Bascom, Campbell Billiard Center, on Campbell Ave. and the Crown Billiards on Winchester, are examples of the new trend.

The two top photos on the left are of Crown Billiards, a two story operation. The lower floor (top phots) caters mostly to the younger set while on the second, the more sedate (older) group handles the cue sticks. Harold Hall is the owner of Crown. There are eight tables downstairs and six on the second floor.

The lower photo on the left shows The Pocket, 1718 S. Bascom Ave. which was the first of the three to open in Campbell. That's Joe Ruiz, son of one of owners, at the table. The Pocket has 12 tables.

Editorial

There is action

At Campbell's first Congress for Community Progress held in February of this year, a number of recommendations were made based on the panel discussions that were held.

At an "evaluation" meeting held after the congress, the recommendations were compiled and forwarded by the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the Congress, to the responsible agencies.

In addition, the Chamber of Commerce established a permanent committee "community progress" committee, headed by the Rev. W. H. Gould, to "follow through" on the recommendations and possibly do the preliminary spade-work in preparation for another congress in the future.

It is noteworthy that 15 of the recommendations developed at the first Congress were forwarded to the Campbell City Council. These recommendations were studied by City Manager Bob Stephens and then submitted to the City Council for action.

We think it is of interest to all the community to know that the City Council is cognizant of the value of the Congress for Community Progress, and, in addition, is anxious to "do something" about it.

For that reason, we are listing the 15 recommendations and the action taken:

Because of the space factor, the recommendations (and the actions pertaining to each) must appear in two "installments". Those that cannot be listed this week will appear in next week's issue.

Congress for Community Progress
(recommendations and action taken by the City Council)

1. RECOMMENDATION: That a transportation committee be organized to work with the City of Campbell, the Board of Supervisors and the County Transportation Policies Committee.

   PURPOSE: To determine the feasibility of obtaining a public, private or (combination of both) muni bus system to serve the greater Campbell area.

   ACTION: It is recommended that a Citizen Committee be appointed next fall.

2. RECOMMENDATION: That the City continue the immediate implementation of the San Tomas Expressway over-crossing.

   PURPOSE: To provide a safe pedestrian crossing over San Tomas Expressway between Campbell and Budd avenues.

   ACTION: City Manager and Public Works Director to continue working with County of Santa Clara, City of San Jose, Campbell Elementary District and citizens interested in project and work out possible solution agreeable to all parties concerned.

3. RECOMMENDATION: That the City continue an accelerated program of street improvement; and that study be given to the consideration of a bond issue for this purpose.

   PURPOSE: To meet an evident Capital Improvement need.

   ACTION: Bond issue is now scheduled for Oct. 24.

4. RECOMMENDATION: That the City Council continue the traffic improvement program in the downtown core area, ultimately considering Plan 3 which directs through traffic north of Campbell Avenue.

   PURPOSE: To move larger volumes of east-west bound traffic through downtown Campbell and, at the same time, improve the downtown area as a commercial downtown center integrated with Civic Center Complex.

   ACTION: Referred to the Planning Consultant currently working on the 701 Advanced Planning Study with the request that this recommendation be considered as one alternative in the traffic circulation element of the downtown area study.

5. RECOMMENDATION: That until the ultimate improvement of the Campbell Avenue intersection is completed, temporary measures should be taken to improve this area.

   PURPOSE: To temporarily correct an intersection which does not meet good traffic engineering standards and which in the foreseeable future must be corrected on a permanent basis.

   ACTION: Referred to Public Works Department for investigation and report. (The three-phase traffic signal has been installed and the situation is somewhat improved.)

6. RECOMMENDATION: That improved communications between the persons involved in planning and policy and the private citizens who are affected should be implemented; and that with the benefit and opening of communications brought about by the Congress for Community Progress, efforts should be made that this type of seminar be an annual affair.

   PURPOSE: To improve communications between the citizens of Campbell, its various publics and the City of Campbell's legislative and administrative officials.

   ACTION: That City Officials, elected and appointed, will utilize every available communication source with the objective of keeping our constituents informed about the City, its needs, its progress and its plans for the future.

7. RECOMMENDATION: That the recommendation be made to the Board of Supervisors, the Campbell City Council and the San Jose Council that the Board of Supervisors be encouraged to give priority to the immediate improvement of Bascom Avenue north of Hamilton Avenue.

   PURPOSE: The improvement of this section of Bascom Avenue is essential to the traffic circulation and turning movements at the Bascom-Hamilton Avenue signalized intersection.

   ACTION: City Council sent letters to the City of San Jose and County urging the improvements necessary for this intersection.

8. RECOMMENDATION: That the City of Campbell and the Elementary and High School Recreation Districts initiate a survey to be conducted among parents and students in the Campbell community relative to their desires and recommendations for the present and future recreation program, as this would aim toward greater community involvement in youth recreation; and the community should be made aware of the existing recreation program before the survey is returned.

   PURPOSE: Survey would determine community's desires and recommendations relative to the need for recreation programming to supplement that now provided by the Campbell Elementary, Campbell Union and West Valley College Districts.

   ACTION: The future provision of city parks, recreation facilities and open space areas would affect the type of questions which would be included in a city-wide survey for recreation programming. The Oct. 24 bond issue includes $800,000 for parks.

(Recommendations from 9 to 15 will appear in next week's issue.)

make their way with the "puffs" (new releases) that flood our desk.

These gems help break the monotony of the usual run-of-the-mill "big stories" that are ground out by the public relation people.

We concede that many of these releases do have a message to offer and this paper, as well as others, often make good use of the information furnished in this manner.

But admittedly when unintentional inter-office memos come attached to the publicity release, it sort of enlivens things a wee bit.

For example, a recent news release from Pacific Telephone (which we used, incidentally, almost in its entirity) had an intriguing memo pinned to it indicating that the release had a little trouble getting a line open to the outside world.

On the memo there were two different handwritten notes:

The top one in black ink (and possibly a man's writing): Please mail to Campbell Press."

Beneath it in a dainty feminine scrawl in blue ink: "Sorry. I don't have the address. Do you?"

What's that commercial the phone company uses to emphasize that a caller should always first look up the number before placing a call to expedite things?

Of course, there is a possibility that there was no directory available in the telephone district office at the time.

But then again they could have called "information" toll free.

-o-

AFTER THAT INTERESTING dialogue had taken place between Fred Chez and City Attorney Joe Bonacina at a recent City Council meeting over the "minutes" of a council meeting, we scurried to the dictionaries in the office.

Chez had maintained that the "minutes" of a previous council meeting were incomplete because they did not contain a statement that was supposedly made at that meeting.

Counselor Joe firmly explained in some detail that it was unnecessary for City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan to include all exchanges, speeches, etc. in the minutes. He said that the minutes were NOT supposed to be a tape-recording of the action.

And the dictionary bears out Joe's reasoning: MINUTES: the official record of a society, committee or other group". Neither the law nor the dictionary specify that the "record" must be all-inclusive of what transpired.

BUT THE CHEZ-BONACINA exchange does raise an interesting point: The "official records" of this city thus is the way Dorothy hears, sees and writes 'em and has for the past 15 years.

Recording the votes of the councilmen is no problem. It is the added features (?) that involve matters of necessity, Dorothy has to put out an abbreviated version of what took place, just touching the highlights. No attempt has ever been made to make it a verbatim account of councilmanic goings-on.

And, of course, Dorothys version could be different than someone else's idea of what was important, for instance, your editor's.

Conceding that an unabridged edition of the action (?) would be helpful at times, just imagine how many pages would be needed to record the explanations of the councilmen during just one council meeting?

Some of the "explanations" have not been noted for their brevity.

CIVIC CENTER

A combined city administration-police building project totalling $835,000 is part of the $3.2 million package that goes before the voters on Oct. 24. This facility will also be part of the civic center complex.

As Councilman Rose points out, it was thus important that the city work out the agreement with the county for the library in order that the proper planning be done to make the library a part of the overall civic center complex.

Rose explains that under the lease agreement, the city is able to coordinate the county library facility with the other project that will form the civic center.

GIANT STRIDE

Rose added also that, if the entire bond issue passes, the city will have taken a giant stride in the long-needed and long-waited improvement program of the "downtown core" and the city will also have a substantial start in a modern civic center in which all citizens can take pride.

The need of more library facilities in this community has long been established, Rose said. The present quarters are not now adequately serving the community and each succeeding year makes it that much worse, the councilman pointed out.

The proposed new facility will have 12,000 square feet, almost twice the size of the present building and will also have 24,000 square feet of parking space, something that is lacking almost altogether at the present time.

but continued to the next meeting any discussion over proposed new regulations to the ordinance controlling billiard parlors.

The ordinance would prohibit alcoholic beverages to be sold or consumed on the premises and that a use permit would be issued only after a report by chief of police had been submitted indicating that the applicant has a reputation of compliance with laws and regulations of the city.

The commission also continued to the next meeting any action on the rezoning of properties on Crockett Ave. that are in the process of being annexed to the city.

The commission, because of lack of apparent interest of those who originally had instigated the matter, "dropped" from the agenda the proposed text amendment that would allow outdoor recreational uses in C-1-S zone with a use permit.

Two items on the agenda submitted by Mrs. Maude Smith of San Tomas Village relating to a proposed service station at 885 S. San Aquino Road were withdrawn by the applicant.

Also withdrawn was the request of Phillips Petroleum Co. for addition of a pump island, regrading and addition of sidewalks for an existing service station at Hamilton and Winchester.

The commission approved the application of Lowell Benson, of Campbell Cleaners, for a canopy at the new location of the cleaners at 507 E. Campbell Ave and approval was also given the request to reduce the lot size from 35,000 to 30,000 in the proposed CM zoning of industrial property on E. Hamilton Ave. east of Hamilton school.

In a rather complicated maneuver, the commission denied the requested zone variance by Union Oil for the new station at E. Hamilton and Central. The variance was needed, oil company officials explained, to reduce the canopy setback from 15-feet to 5-feet, because the "reverse plan" had been approved by the commission.

Rather than approve the variance, the commission agreed to allow modification of the plans from "reverse" to front entry.

Claudia Alexander is July bride

(CLAUDIA ALEXANDER)

Claudia Alexander, a 1964 alumna of Campbell High School, changed her name to Mrs. Richard Russell Smith at a beautiful wedding ceremony at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Santa Clara. A large assemblage of friends and relatives witnessed the 7 p.m. ceremony. Rev. Ward McCabe officiated.

The bride styled and sewed her own gown of white peau de soie. It featured an overdress of nylon net with a square cut neckline and scattered appliques on the bodice and skirt. She wore a floor length veil of white net and carried a nosegay of white butterfly orchids and stephonotis.

Jeannette Alexander was her sister's maid of honor. She wore an A-line gown of green de-lustered satin with an overlay of blue organza flocked with white daisies. Her headpiece was dyed to match the blue-green gown and she carried a nosegay of lavendar tinted chrysanthemums.

Nancy Alexander, younger sister of the bride, and Patricia Smith, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids. They were attired in matching gowns similar to the maid of honor except their bouquets were yellow-tinted chrysanthemums.

James Edward Smith, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Other attendants were Paul Bryan and Arthur Smart. Ushers were Thomas Van Buren and Douglas Knowles.

A reception followed the nuptials in the church patio. The wedding cake was five tiers high, decorated with pink roses and topped with wedding bells tied with white satin ribbon.

Following a honeymoon to Disneyland and Palm Springs, the young couple will make their home in Berkeley, where the bridegroom is employed. The couple will return to school at the University of California at Davis to finish their last semester. They will both graduate in the Spring with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Claudia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Alexander of Los Gatos. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Smith of Layfayette.

"Say it with Color"

Haircolor is magic. It is one of the most powerful mediums known to create beauty. Employed as a corrective, the imaginative use of color is unlimited.
A face can be widened, narrowed, made longer or shorter. Spotlighting with color can draw attention from one area and emphasize another.
A clever colorist, like a painter, first thinks of color value in terms of light and shadow and its effects on a woman's face. Hair frames the face. Larger or smaller frames are needed for different face shapes: Light frames enlarge the face, dark frames are more confining. The sketches below demonstrate the art of creating illusions with color.

The exact same face is used in sketches one and two to demonstrate the dramatic use of color.
2. An illusion of height, making a shorter girl appear taller, Is echieved with highlights placed at the top of the head and extended to the sides. Darker hair, sometimes the patron's own natural color, frames the face.

Gubser submits bill to curtail obscene mail

A completely new and different approach to the problem of curtailing the mailing of obscene literature has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif.).

The Tenth District Congressman introduced legislation which would require the licensing at a fee of $1,000 of all persons who buy, sell, rent, exchange or trade mailing lists. The Gubser bill requires the licensee to assume the responsibility of informing the Post Office Department of any person to whom he has sold a mailing list and whom he has reasonable cause to believe will use the list to offer obscene literature for sale through the mails.

Congressman Gubser's bill would give the Postmaster General the right to revoke the license of any person who fails to report an effort to use Post Office facilities to sell obscene literature.

In his statement, Congressman Gubser said, "Many years ago as a Member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, I served on the Pornography Subcommittee. Trying to find ways and means of regulating these clever purveyors of filth was a most frustrating experience. Court decisions, the Constitution, and slippery business tactics make it almost impossible for the Post Office Department to prevent dealers in smut, from sending unwanted pornographic material to our most impressionable group of Americans--our teenagers.

Obviously a new and completely different approach is required. This is why I have hit upon the idea of regulating the dealer in mailing lists who is a very necessary link in the smut peddler's operation. Perhaps by regulating him we can find some constitutional means of getting at the despicable persons who profit from filth."

Civil Defense warning signals sound off in county July 28

The next quarterly test of public warning equipment will be conducted Countywide Friday, July 28, at 11 a.m. The test will consist of two signals.

The first will be the ALERT or ATTENTION signal--a steady tone lasting one minute. After one minute of silence the ATTACK signal will be sounded.

This is a rising and falling wail or series of short blasts. These tests to check the mechanical condition of outdoor warning equipment are conducted on the last Friday of January, April, July and October at 11 a.m.

Civil Defense officials stress the fact that the warning signals must be meaningful to individuals and must stimulate action if they are to serve their purposes. A 3 to 5 minute steady tone ALERT signal means that everyone should turn on his radio or TV to any local station and listen for emergency information.

The warbling tone or series of blasts of a siren or horn lasting 3 to 5 minutes means an attack on this country has been detected by the North American Air Defense Command. The ATTACK signal is notice to everyone to follow emergency plans at his place of work, in school, at home, or wherever located. Here, again, radios should be turned on for emergency information.

The steady-tone ALERT and wailing ATTACK signals, if used in real emergencies, would be sounded for 3 to 5 minutes instead of the 1 minute periods used for testing and would be repeated if necessary.

The public warning equipment in Santa Clara County is part of the National Civil Defense Warning System. The warning network is manned 24 hours a day from the National Warning Center in Colorado Springs to the local police or fire station that triggers the siren or horn.

Santa Clara County cities participating in the test are: Alviso, Campbell, Cupertino, Los Altos, Los Altos Hills, Los Gatos, Milpitas, Monte Sereno, Mountain View, Palo Alto, Santa Clara and Sunnyvale.

Moffett Field, Redwood Estates and Stanford University also will test their warning equipment as will cities located in San Mateo County.

In the San Jose area, county sirens at 2993 Alum Rock Ave., White and Aborn Roads, County Fairgrounds, 4 Wabash Road (Burbank Fire Department), and 480 E. Casey Road will be tested. The City of San Jose will test equipment on another day to be selected.

In the event of an attack warning, County radio stations active in the Emergency Broadcast System would broadcast urgent bulletins from National, State and Local Government sources. These stations are KXRX (1500), KEEN (1370), and KLOK (1170).

Auto Safety Belts

NEW YORK—Experts estimate that more than 5,000 lives would be saved each year in the United States and that injuries would be reduced by one-third if everyone used auto seat belts, says the Insurance Information Institute.

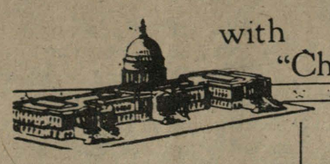
ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser



Last week's ON CAPITOL HILL told about the Rural Electrification Administration which came into being thirty-one years ago to bring electricity to farmers who could not be economically served by private utilities. Almost every rural area in the country is now served with electricity and five out of every six new REA customers don't live on a farm. Nevertheless, Congress is being asked to finance an even greater expansion of this "temporary" agency.

In the June 1967 issue of the ROTARIAN, a full-page ad was sponsored by the National Rural Electrification Cooperative Association which cites the need for REA co-ops to "install new equipment, heavier lines, and the other facilities necessary to keep ahead of the demand." The ad claims that REA's will have to invest more than $9 billion in the next fifteen years to stay ahead.

The next paragraph makes an obvious plea for the passage of a bill by Congress which would permit REA co-ops to pool their collective credit.

This ad raises several questions. First, should an agency, which gets money at two percent, which in turn costs the taxpayers more than four percent, be allowed to spend advertising funds in order to grow beyond their authorized purpose? Secondly, should a tax-exempt organization have the right to spend money for the purpose of influencing legislation?

The Internal Revenue Service has challenged the tax-exempt status of the Sierra Club for opposing two administration sponsored dams on the Colorado River. It has revoked the tax-exempt status of conservative religious groups which did not endorse political candidates and at the same time did not question the tax-exemption of religious magazines and tax-exempt groups which did make outright endorsements--of President Johnson.

Though the Internal Revenue Service probably does not have the power to tax REA co-operatives, it seems wrong to me that some private non-profit or religious organizations should be denied tax-exemption for allegedly attempting to influence legislation while government sponsored co-ops, financed completely with taxpayers' money, are allowed to spend public money for outright lobbying expenses.

The mimeograph mills of almost every branch of the federal government are constantly grinding out propaganda designed to influence public opinion and the votes of Members of the House and Senate. Why shouldn't tax-exempt government departments be subject to the same lobbying rules imposed upon private non-profit tax-exempt organizations?

The power to tax, to grant tax exemption or to withhold it is a power so awesome that it should be applied only under a strict and single standard to groups which oppose, as well as support the views of an administration in power. And government agencies should be forced to live by the same single standard which applies to private non-profit groups!

In addition she greets patients, makes appointments, keeps financial and medical records, has a knowledge of medical insurance and performs routine medical office work.

The program was initiated, according to Dr. Wallace W. Hall, West Valley College president, in response to a need "far beyond the supply--and there is little indication that this trend will be altered in the foreseeable future."

The Home Economics Department of the Orchard City Grange has a number of worthwhile projects underway to help feed orphan children and to remember those confined to hospitals.

Cast of 100 participate in local summer theater

By Sally Howe

Remember the fairy tale about the Emperor who was so vain he let himself be talked into wearing "invisible" clothes?

"The Emperor's New Clothes" is now a musical, and a cast of over 100 local youngsters are presenting it in the Campbell High School Auditorium July 26 at 2 p.m. and repeating the performance the next evening at 8 p.m.

It's a joyous singing musical--the choral group--or townspeople as they are called, number over 30. Another 60 are busy performing in the orchestra and the total, including principals, number over 100.

The vain Emperor is portrayed by John Healy; his wife by Gail McEvoy. "Love" interest is supplied by Diane Russell, as the Prime Minister's (Dennis Conroy) daughter and Ron Hogan, the General's (Steve Tutthill) son. The three weavers who make the "invisible" cloth for the new clothes are Holly Hurst, Ethyl Mann, and Sherry Yarchever.

Larry McCommas is musical director; John Hall is producer-director. Both are teachers at Campbell High, where daily morning rehearsals are taking place. Choreographer is Janie Jones, an Arizona teacher here for the summer. Former Campbell student Sondra Wheel is pianist.

Kay Pruvich has designed an appealing set, assisted by Gail McEvoy, Mike Gruenwald, Bill Wells and Mark Ammermann. Jeane Dusharme is stage manager and Jim Chernoff is lighting director. Toni Young is in charge of tickets and publicity.

The production is part of a summer workshop in creative arts conducted for the second consecutive summer at the high school. All cast members "double" as costumers, makeup experts and set workers.

"WHAT KIND OF DAY HAS IT BEEN?"--sing the choral members of the cast of "The Emperor's New Clothes" in their daily rehearsal at Campbell High School Auditorium. "Emperor" will be performed only twice; once at a matinee July 26 and an evening performance July 27. While rehearsals go on, scenery is being painted in the background, and wardrobe and lighting is worked on in the wings.

Following the close of "The Emperor's New Clothes" the group will turn their attention to "The King and I" for four performances, August 2, 3, 4, 5.

A treat for the whole family will be "The Emperor's New Clothes." Tickets, at 50¢ each are available from Toni Young each morning at the auditorium, or by calling her at 379-3858.

Won't it be interesting to see how the designers come up with "invisible" clothes?

"ONCE THERE WAS A PEACOCK"--At least that's the story that Gail McEvoy, as the Empress tells Debbie Hannum, Ronnie McCommas, Robin Poulson, Schele Davis and Jennifer Davis. The "peacock", of course, is the Emperor, and the story is for young and old.

IN DENVER--Pvt. Alfred L. Code Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Code Sr. of 915 N. Central Ave. has been assigned to the 522nd Military Police Platoon at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Denver, Colorado. The youth is a graduate of Campbell High School and the Law Enforcement program at West Valley College.

THANKS COUNCIL--Jim Duffield, who has resigned as Chamber of Commerce manager, and was recently honored by the City Council for his services to the community, (above) thanks the councilmen for their support.

COLOR SLIDES

Mrs. Anthony Jurras, will show color slides of her recent Australian trip at the next meeting, Thursday, July 20, of the Campbell Community Hospital Auxiliary at her home at 3474 Stevens Creek Blvd. Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. with business meeting to commence at 10:30.

Letters to the Editor

IN APPRECIATION

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A few weeks ago the PRESS published a story and pictures about the families on Coventry Drive who each month send packages to a young Campbell service man in Viet Nam.

One of the pictures showed Mrs. Catherine Morrison at the Post Office mailing the treats. When the packages arrived, Mrs. Morrison received the following letter from the recipient, Sgt. David A. Austin of the Third Marine Division, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Austin, 1081 Wekiva Ave.

Dear Mrs. Morrison:

I'm sorry for the delay in answering your letter, but I thought it best to wait till your packages arrive so I could let you know they arrived okay, which they did.

This morning I received your very kind gifts. I appreciate them very much and I know all the guys in my bunch appreciate them, too.

It's a good feeling to know that there are still people that care about us over here, and believe in what we're doing. I wish there was more I could say beside just thank you, but I'm afraid that's the best I can do. So thank you very much for everything that you and your friends have done. It is a wonderful thing that you are doing for us over here.

I just wish that there were more people like you and your friends in this world.

I will close with one last thank you very very much for everything.

Sincerely,
David A. Austin.

Local discus champ wins scholarship

Bill Walker, 6'3", 200 pound discus thrower, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Walker, 299 Harrison Ave., Campbell, has just signed the 1967 Inter-Conference Letter of Intent (Athletic Association of Western Universities) for an athletic scholarship to the University of Washington (Washington Huskies), Seattle, Washington. This full scholarship will be continuous for four years where he will pursue a Degree in Architecture.

This was brought about by his Central Coast Section championship in May when he won the meet with a throw of 182'8" which qualified him with the best distance entering the CIF Championship Track and Field Meet held in Balboa Stadium, San Diego. Bill's coach Ed Marcos from Campbell High School accompanied him to this event.

Bill has just returned from an all expense two day visitation to the University of Washington campus where he was favorably impressed with the academic as well as athletic facilities. He was given the red-carpet treatment by Mr. Stan Hiserman, Track Coach and Mr. Joseph Kearney, Assistant Athletic Director, including dinner at the Space Needle.

Bill is a graduate of Hamilton School, Campbell School and a 1967 graduate of Campbell High School. He received the 1967 Bank of America Achievement Award in Industrial Arts, is a member of the Honor Society and the National Forensic League.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP--Bill Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Walker of Campbell, has been awarded a four year athletic scholarship to the University of Washington. Bill is the Central Coast Section champion for a discus throw of 182 feet and 8 inches. He is a 1967 graduate of Campbell High School.

College gets $786,482 state funds

The new State Budget recently signed by Governor Ronald Reagan, contains $786,482 for West Valley College, Dr. Wallace W. Hall college president has announced.

That sum will be matched by an approximate $1,100,000 in college funds, and will be used for construction of the second permanent building on the Saratoga campus site--the Science-Mathematics Building, to cost an estimated $1,802,624.

The 54,000 square foot structure will be in keeping with the Engineering-Technology Building, ground for which was broken late in June, and will conform to the surroundings and the terrain of the Saratoga area, Dr. Hall said.

Part of the site work for the Science-Mathematics Building is currently being done in connection with the construction of the Engineering-Technology Building. Actual construction of the building is scheduled to start around January, 1968, with completion due in time for opening of classes in September, 1969.

The $768,482 allocation was among $19,617,030 alloted in the new State Budget for thirty-six junior colleges

AFFECTIONATELY YOURS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, A self-Portrait in Letters of Friendship, edited by Thomas J. Fleming.

For too many Americans, George Washington has become a remote, forbidding figure, more grandfather than father of his country. Not long ago one historian called him the man in the white marble toga. This book is a major step toward revivifying the warm and fascinating human being who lived within this official statue - The Washington who poured out his political and military woes to his beloved brother Jack in the dark days of 1776. Only in what Washington called his "letters of friendship" does the real man emerge.

In this book Dr. Fine tells how the child's self-concept is one potent factor influencing achievement, how vital the parent's role is in forming self-concept, how poor teaching often reinforces a too low-concept and what parents and teachers can do about it.

PRESIDENTIAL GREATNESS by Thomas A. Bailey

Drawing from the personal glamour that shapes the popular image, as well as from the inner fiber that makes the actual man, Dr. Bailey establishes an impressive set of yardsticks for judging greatness and then proceeds with wit and perceptiveness to measure the performance of each man who has held presidential office.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Security Administration

Q. - My wife worked regularly under social security for about 15 years. She had to quit last year due to injuries she received in an automobile accident. Since she cannot work for several more months, should she apply for social security?

A. - Yes. Monthly cash disability benefits can now be paid to people if their disability is expected to last for at least 12 months.

Q. - When I reached age 62, I retired and began drawing my social security benefits. This was 18 months ago. Recently, I became totally disabled as the result of an accident. Would this make any change in my social security monthly benefits?

A. - Yes. You should get in touch with your Social Security Office since you may be able to change over to disability benefits up until age 65. This may mean an increase in your social security checks.
